THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Virtual Career Services Are Available

In order to protect the health of our community, the University, Graduate School and the University Career Center & The President's Promise, have all taken steps to move service delivery online. This shift means that doctoral students and postdocs have broad access to online career development related resources, Zoom workshops, and virtual appointments.

In the coming weeks, I encourage you to make time and space in your schedule to utilize the plethora of online resources and services that are available to support your career exploration and job or internship search. If you have not done so recently, you might:

- Review the Professional and Career Development section of the Graduate School website to learn more about all of the available services and resources for PhDs and postdocs. The quick 15-minute overview presentation is a great place to start.
- Sign up for PhD Career Navigator and complete Modules 0 and 1. This ELMS-Canvas self-paced tool contains eight, 20-minute mini-modules to get you started with career exploration and job search. Participate in one of the weekly online “meet ups” to get your specific career related questions answered by fellow doctoral students.
- Watch recordings of Fall 2019 PhD Career Workshops to increase knowledge about common career topics such as the job search process, salary negotiations and effective interviewing techniques.
- Sign up for upcoming online workshops.
- Sign up for a 45-minute individual career advising appointment in your C4T account. We are offering appointments via Zoom, Google Hangout or phone. Now is a great time to schedule an appointment to address the specific questions you have about pursuing a career that fits you.

If you have any questions, please contact me by email: smarti18@umd.edu or by phone: 301.314.5916.
