

ASSISTING STUDENTS IN DISTRESS

SEE SOMETHING. SAY SOMETHING. DO SOMETHING.

SEE SOMETHING.

UMD faculty/staff and graduate research/teaching assistants are in a unique position to demonstrate compassion and empathy for UMD students in distress.

Both undergraduate and graduate students may feel alone, isolated, and even hopeless when faced with challenges in their academic and personal lives. These feelings can easily disrupt academic performance and may lead to dysfunctional coping and other serious consequences.

You may be the first person to SEE SOMETHING distressing in a student since you have frequent and prolonged contact with them. As members of the UMD community, it is important that we act with compassion.

DO SOMETHING.

Sometimes students cannot, or will not turn to family or friends. DO SOMETHING. Your expression of concern may be a critical factor in saving a student's academic career or even their life.

This folder can help you recognize symptoms of student distress and identify appropriate referrals to campus resources.

SAY SOMETHING.

Students exhibiting troubling behaviors in your presence are likely having difficulties in other areas of their lives including the classroom, with roommates, with family, and even in social settings.

Trust your instincts and SAY SOMETHING if a student leaves you feeling worried, alarmed or threatened.

WHAT ABOUT PRIVACY?

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) permits communication about a student of concern in connection with a health and safety emergency. Observations of a student's conduct or statements made by a student are not FERPA protected.

Appropriate consideration for student privacy should be given before information is shared with people other than those suggested in this Folder, and questions about when such disclosure is appropriate can be answered by University Office of General Counsel. Faculty and graduate assistants are Responsible University Employees (see OCRSM.UMD.EDU).

INDICATORS OF DISTRESS

- Unusual/disproportionate emotional response to events
- Excessive tearfulness or panic reactions
- Irritability or unusual apathy
- Verbal abuse (e.g., taunting, badgering, intimidation)
- Concern from peers

SAFETY RISK

- Unprovoked anger or hostility
- Physical violence (e.g., shoving, grabbing, assault, use of weapons)
- Implying or making direct threat to harm self or others
- Academic assignments dominated by themes of extreme hopelessness, rage, worthlessness, isolation, despair, acting out, suicidal ideations/violent behaviors
- Stalking or harassing
- Communicating threats

RESPONSE PROTOCOL

Follow the chart to determine who to contact when faced with a distressed or distressing student.

TIPS

PREPARING TO REACH OUT

- Know the available campus resources and the referral process.
- Review information on privacy rules.
- If safe, meet privately and always allow sufficient time to meet.
- Ensure your safety.
- If you decide not to have direct contact with the student, refer the incident to your college dean. Best if can have conversation with student.
- Contact UMCP PD if a student expresses a direct threat to self or others, or acts in a bizarre, highly irrational and disruptive way.

CONNECTING WITH THE STUDENT

- Clearly express your concerns focusing on the behavior in nondisparaging terms.
- Allow the student to talk.
- Do not challenge or become argumentative with the student.
- Ask directly if the student wants to hurt him/herself or others.
- Respect the student's privacy without making false promises of confidentiality.
- Document all incidents and attempts to resolve the situation.

MAKING THE REFERRAL

- Recommend services and provide direct referrals; assist student in contacting resources.
- Frame any decision to seek and accept help as an intelligent choice.
- Make sure the student understands what actions are necessary.
- Be frank with the student about your limits (e.g., time, expertise).
- Encourage and assist the student to make and keep an appointment and set a follow-up meeting with the student.
